About Indian Economic Association (IEA)

IEA is a registered body of Indian Economics professionals, established way back in 1917, with the objective of providing a forum to debate and discuss of theoretical and policy-oriented issues of Economic Science. Thanks to the initiative taken by Charles Joseph Hamilton, then Minto Professor of Economics at Calcutta University, and a score of economists, mostly teachers, who met in Calcutta in December 1917 to deliberate on economics. IEA is the oldest Association in Social Sciences and perhaps the second oldest in the country in any discipline, after the Indian Science Congress Association (founded in 1914). IEA organises annual conferences, seminars and lectures by eminent persons of the profession. It stands for promoting the interest of the economics discipline in terms of extension, expansion and professional competence in teaching, training, research and consultancy. It promotes the interest of its members, but more than that, the interest of the public, which is served when members sincerely devote their time and energy to raise competence and deploy that competence whenever occasion arises. IEA has so far organised 104 annual conferences in different parts of the country. The last conference was held at Atal Bihari Vajpayee Institute of Good Governance and Policy Analysis, Bhopal, Madhya Pradesh.

Message

I feel happy and honoured to be the President for the 105th Annual Conference of the Indian Economic Association scheduled to be held from December 27-29, 2022 at CMS Business School, Jain Deemed to be University, Bengaluru, Karnataka.

The last eight years have witnessed transformative changes in several socio-economic spheres of the country. This could happen due to commitment of the Government to improve the lives of common man by the introduction of many new policy initiatives and flagship schemes. These schemes, in turn, have resulted in the country being one of the fastest growing economies in the World. There is a new vigour in the initiatives which are aimed at 'inclusive growth'. I am happy to note that this year's annual conference of the Indian Economic Association will be focused on such issues. I hope the Conference serves as a platform for economists, development practitioners, and government functionaries to discuss the trends and experience of various sectors of Indian Economy in the context of the changing world economic order.

I am sure that the proceedings of the Conference will provide valuable input for maximizing outcome of new policy initiatives, besides benefiting policy makers, academicians and students. I compliment the organizers for their effort in organizing this Conference.

I wish the Conference grand success.

Message from the desk of Association President, IEA

Prof V K Malhotra

President, Indian Economic Association

It is a matter of great pleasure and privilege to be associated with the Indian Economic Association which is organising its 105th Annual Conference from 27th to 29th December, 2022 at CMS Business School, JAIN (Deemed to be University), Bangalore, Karnataka. The IEA has always aspired to bring illumination in respect of major issues in national and international economies by organising conferences, seminars, workshops and lectures of very renowned experts in their own domains.

The 104th Annual Conference of IEA was held at Atal Bihari Vajpayee Institute of Good Governance and Policy Analysis (AIGGPA), Bhopal, Madhya Pradesh during 25-27 December 2021. This conference was definitely an enormous accomplishment in all possible dimensions of a professional conference. It provided a platform for highly academic discourse on various issues of high contemporary relevance.

This year again, many distinguished economists of the country will deliberate on themes of high significance, which include India, Global Economy and the World Economic Order; Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav (AKAM): Sectors of the Economy Performance and Aspirations; Economy, Technological Developments and New Initiatives; and State Economy of Karnataka.

A very dynamic team of organisers from IEA and the vibrant faculty and staff of JAIN (Deemed-to-be University), Bangalore will certainly take care of every need of all participants and try to provide the best possible environment for mutual sharing and learning.

I wish the 105th Annual Conference of IEA to be a momentous success in every aspect of the Conference.

Prof V K Malhotra

Message from the Chancellor, JAIN (Deemed-to-be University)

Dr. Chenraj Roychand

Chancellor
JAIN (Deemed-to-be University)

It is a matter of pride to know that 105th annual conference of the Indian Economic Association is being hosted by Faculty of Management Studies, JAIN (Deemed-to-be University). At the outset, I wish the delegates of this conference all the best. I am sure that the conference will bring out the best output in terms of research and publications by reputed scholars and resource persons. IEA is the second oldest forum in India constituted for academic deliberations. It has inspired millions through workshops, seminars and conferences. It has relentlessly organised 104th annual conferences in the past involving think-tanks in economics and thousands of delegates participates in the conference every year. The 105th annual conference hosted at JAIN (Deemed-to-be University) will be a feather in the cap of the association.

The world economy is poising a recessionary outlook. Inflation has crossed a level not seen in the past 40 years. The supply side disruptions due to lockdown to prevent the spread of the virus has damaged the global production and trade. The loss of lives and livelihood due to Covid-19 is unprecedented in history. Economists must find an answer to the question how an immediate global recovery is possible? Besides, the Russian invasion of Ukraine has aggravated the supply-side disruptions causing a stagflation across the globe. Policy efforts to control inflation has led to rising interest rate, capital outflow and currency depreciation. Notwithstanding, the disinflation efforts create a sacrifices ratio in terms of falling global output and employment.

I am sure this conference will bring forth ample economic wisdom through research and deliberations to address multiple issues lingering around our region, country and the world at large. I wish the organizers and delegates all the best!

Dr. Chenraj Roychand

Message from the Vice Chancellor JAIN (Deemed-to-be University)

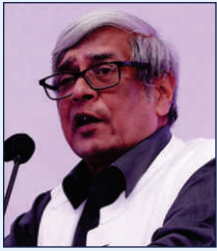

Prof. (Dr.) Raj Singh
Vice Chancellor
JAIN (Deemed-to-be University)

It is indeed heartening to note that Faculty of Management Studies, JAIN (Deemed-to-be University) is hosting the 105th annual conference of the Indian Economic Association (IEA). Since its formation in 1917 the IEA, as the second oldest academic body in India, has evolved as an effective forum for deliberating on theoretical and policy oriented issues in Economic Science. Journeying along, the IEA has pioneered organization of academic workshops, seminars and conferences in the domain of economics attracting thousands of its members every year due to the range and relevance of themes and discussions. So far, the Association has successfully conducted 104th annual conferences.

With economic decisions impacting humankind across nations, Economics is globally revered as one of the foremost disciplines in social sciences. I eagerly look forward to the landmark success of the 105th annual conference of IEA at JAIN which certainly will pave the way for creating a transformational experience through meaningful policy dialogues, prescriptions and practices. Here's extending a hearty welcome to all delegates and best wishes to the organizers with the hope that the conference is a grand success.
